Cleanroom Behaviour and Comportment for Aseptic Services

This course has been developed by NHS TSET (The Technical Specialist Education and Training group) and is facilitated by the University of Leeds.

For more information about TSET visit <https://www.tset.org.uk>

Maintaining proper behaviour and procedures in cleanroom environments is critical for ensuring the safe preparation of injectable medicines and patient safety. Audits and inspections have highlighted deficiencies and lapses in aseptic practices, underscoring the need for improved compliance to the rules of cleanroom behaviour. This course aims to provide insight into the procedures and protocols required for such activity.

A one day course covering:

- the risks of poor cleanroom practice
- getting into a cleanroom
- cleanroom behaviour
